No recording of "Hall of Mirrors" exists in a form that is even half-decent, so I am sparing you grief, OK?

(this deficiency is one I intend to remedy) — at Blayk Heights.

Lenora - the lyrics to the song I played on guitar yesterday appear on these two pages.

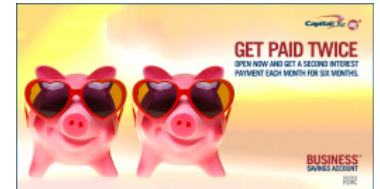

PS: Like I said, I intended to make it about me? I find that mirrors clarify my perspectives, make it clear that others always exist, that a shift in angle can produce a geometry offering new insights; but it wound up different:

... this is one of the songs marked for SEMTEX RENASCENCE... redeemed from the hellpits of my clinical files!

I have to track it sometime, "with all the murder attempts going on in my life right now... it's kind of a bitch, eh?" - ROFLMAO -

"...for every cure there is an antidote... and mine is ROCK AND ROLL!"

YAY

PS: There's a longish intro with a LOT of jungle-drumming before it goes into the main riff, a break with a different meditative (heavy) set of chords, back into the verses and the intro gets duped again.

This chunk of heavy metal is really really long, so it has to be "energetic" to get a kind of groovepulse behind it.

"just my opinion" - lol
