Individuals charged with criminal offenses noted in this column will face a court proceeding to determine whether they are guilty of the charges.

TOMPKINS COUNTY SHERIFF

•Lenora Quvus, 48, of Ithaca, was charged with driving while intoxicated Friday after she was pulled over for speeding on Elmira Road in the Town of Ithaca, according to the sheriff's office.

Quvus was charged with three counts of DWI, speed in zone, refusal to take a breath test, operation in violation of a conditional license and third-degree aggravated unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle.

Quvus is due to appear March 25 in the Town of Ithaca Court.

•Leverne A. Nesmith, 53, of Danby, was charged with felony driving while intoxicated Saturday.

Deputies said they observed Nesmith's car crossing over the center line at 2:20 a.m. Saturday while traveling south on Danby Road in Danby.

Nesmith was charged with three counts of felony DWI and failure to keep right.

Nesmith is due to appear April 14 in the Town of Danby Court.
