The Biggest Breast Implants in the World Belong to Beshine

June 26, 2014 in Celebrity Plastic Surgery by Dana Jackson | 2 Comments

German model Beshine is the proud owner of the biggest breast implants in the world. Her implants are so large that they are visible from both front and back and the topless star isn’t afraid to show them off.

31-year old Beshine, born Mayra Hills, was once a dimunitive A-cup, according to RadarOnline, but now has “The World’s Biggest Boobs” and is reportedly a Z-cup. Apparently Beshine has expander implants, which she injects every now and then. She last expanded her breasts in 2011, to 10,000 cc and each breast reportedly now weighs 20 pounds each.

While many large chested women complain of back pain and even opt for breast reduction or implant removal, according to the case, Beshine has said that she doesn’t suffer from back problems because she follows a back strengthening regimen.

Heidi Montag made headlines when she revealed that she was replacing her huge implants, which weighed 3 pounds each, with a more moderate size. Heidi reportedly sought the advice of the reconstructive surgeon because her breast implants were causing her to experience pain in her back and shoulders and even some tingling in her arms. According to Heidi via UsWeekly, the doctor informed her that her large implants were falling through the bottom, which is very dangerous and that the implants could eventually end up near her belly-button.

However, as you might imagine, she does struggle to find clothes that fit over her giant mammary glands and can’t sleep on her stomach. Her breasts are so large that her bras are custom made. Not that she wears a bra in many of her modeling photos.

In an interview on her website, Beshine said, “It is always an adventure to be in public with such big boobs.”

Although breast implants have made her famous, Beshine has had other plastic surgery augmentations as well. In 2012 she reportedly had a buttocks augmentation using silicone implants. And she looks to get lip fillers done as well and probably Botox injections in her forehead. Apparently when she first started showing her supersized breasts on her website, she hid her face. But she may have decided to smooth out any possible wrinkles and plump her pout when she decided to put her face with her body.

Beshine may have the “World’s Biggest Boobs,” but the official title of “world’s largest augmented breasts,” according to the Guinness Book of World Records goes to New York born porn star Maxi Mounds (born Jenna Curlington), who wears a claims to wear a 156MMM bra. The 48 year old had a polypropylene string breast implant procedure, which irritate breast tissue, causing her breasts to grow continuously. The procedure is now illegal but her mounds look to have continued to grow outrageously.

Unlike Heidi, if Beshine and Maxi wanted to undo their plastic surgery procedures, they would find it very difficult as the implants have so distorted their bodies. The large implants have likely damaged cartilage and bone and be left with stretched out skin that would be hard to treat without leaving obvious signs of damage.
