Name: White shark
State/Province: Gelderland
Logo: shark
Colour: white
Shape: round
Height: 4.0 mm
Width: 9.5 mm
Texture: Smooth, slightly crumbly
Edges: beveled
Report Quality Rating: ★★★★★ (5 stars, 1 vote)

Description: Slightly off-white round pills with a shark logo (with 2 pectoral fins) and a breakline. All pills have yellow or brown speckles on them. They crumble and break easily. Picked these up about a year ago for what I now know to be a suspiciously low price. After taking one I've had them professionally lab-tested (GC/MS, the lot) in the Netherlands and it turns out they contain ONLY mCPP, around 40 mg if I remember correctly. They are Bunk with a capital B. Incidentally, you can find pictures of this pill on the Wikipedia page on mCPP.

Suspected Contents: Piperazine
Rating: Adulterated
Warning: yes
Tested: no
Consumed: yes

User Report: Immediately after buying the pills I took one at an outdoor festival in my home town, believing them to contain MDMA. Though I felt quite happy and energetic for a few hours, the experience didn't come close to MDMA. I guess I'm lucky I didn't get the migraines, headaches or nausea commonly associated with mCPP, which apparently vary from person to person. I know there are/were also other white sharks going around that contain only MDMA(high) or MDMA(low) WITH mCPP, so if you come across white sharks, definitely test them for mCPP!
